

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Introduction

DISTINGUISHED Men of Baltimore and of Maryland is intended to be a book of ready utility to the newspaper editor and artist.

It is issued as a practical publication to meet the modern newspaper demand for illustration.

Many of the well known families whose names appear in American history have living descendants now active in the social, commercial and political life of the State, and have contributed to the progress of Maryland and its metropolis.

Biographically, the work contains salient facts furnished by the subjects themselves.

The chief aim, however, is to put into the reference libraries of American publishers reproductions in half-tone of recent photographs of men prominent in the commercial, professional, official, political and social activity of the State of Maryland.

HIS EMINENCE JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS was born in Baltimore, Md., July 23, 1834. He was baptized at the Cathedral, and was soon taken by his parents to Ireland, where his early education was acquired. From his earliest years he gave his entire mind to the acquisition of useful knowledge and broad-minded study, and soon expressed the earnest desire to devote his life to the service of the church. With this object in view, he returned to Baltimore, and was admitted to St. Charles' College, Maryland, from which he graduated in 1857, and then took up his theological studies at the Seminary of St. Sulpice, St. Mary's University, Baltimore. Archbishop Kendrick ordained him priest June 30, 1861, and he was sent to St. Patrick's Church, Baltimore, as assistant to Rev. James Dolan. The small congregation which was instructed in St. Bridget's Church, Canton, Maryland, was his next charge, and in 1865 he was made private secretary to Archbishop Spalding, who made him chancellor of the archdiocese. He was made assistant chancellor over the Second Plenary Council at Baltimore the following year, and when Pope Pius IX erected the State of North Carolina into a new Vicariate Apostolic, March 3, 1868, he nominated Chancellor Gibbons titular Bishop of Adramyttum, and the first Vicar Apostolic of North Carolina. Archbishop Spalding consecrated him at the Cathedral of Baltimore, August 16, 1868.

On July 30, 1872, Bishop Gibbons was sent to the Diocese of Richmond, Virginia, as successor to the Right Reverend John McGill, who had died the preceding January. Archbishop Bayley installed him as Bishop of Richmond, October 20, 1872, and he immediately took up his new work with undiminished activity.

On July 29, 1877, Bishop Gibbons was made titular Bishop of Jinopolis, with the right of succession to the Primatial See of Baltimore. Upon the death of Archbishop Bayley, October 3, 1877, Bishop Gibbons became Archbishop of Baltimore. On June 7, 1886, Pope Leo XIII created him cardinal, and he selected the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as priest, June 30, 1886, as the date on which to be invested with the insignia of his new rank in the church.

ARTHUR PUE GORMAN, JR., lawyer, was born in Howard County, Maryland, March 27, 1873. He is a son of the late United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, whose notable achievements and distinguished service as a statesman are known to every Marylander. His mother, the late Mrs. Hannah Donagan Gorman, was born in Reading, Pennsylvania, in 1835, and was the daughter of a leading physician of that town.

Mr. Gorman attended private schools in Washington, the Episcopal High School in Virginia and at Lawrenceville, N. J. He received his legal education at Columbia University, University of Maryland and in the office of the late Attorney-General John P. Poe. After having been admitted to the Maryland Bar he formed a law partnership with Mr. Alonzo L. Miles under the name of Miles & Gorman, which was later dissolved in 1905.

He has been prominent in Democratic politics of his State. In 1904 he was elected from Howard County by the Democratic party to the State Senate of Maryland for a term of two years, and in 1908 was re-elected for a further term of two years. In 1911 he was the Democratic party's candidate for Governor of Maryland.

By Governor John Walter Smith he was appointed Colonel on the Military Staff of that Executive, and from the late Governor Austin L. Crothers received the commission of Brigadier-General on his Military Staff.

He is a member of the Maryland and Merchants' Clubs, and a member of the Maryland State Bar Association. He is at present engaged in the practice of law in Baltimore.

GUNTHER, GEORGE, brewer, was born at Wirlheim, Germany, March 29, 1846. He died in Baltimore, Md., September, 1912. He came to this country in 1866 a poor boy, and at his death left behind him a large fortune to his heirs and a wide reputation as a public-spirited and honored citizen. He began his career in New York as an employe in a brewery, where he remained for 3 years. In 1869 he became brewmaster for the Kross Brewery Co. of New York. In 1870 he came to Baltimore as brewmaster for George Rust. After a year he bought out Christian Gail and started in the brewery business for himself. The little plant which he finished constructing at O'Donnell and 3d streets grew into one of the largest establishments of its kind. He also invested heavily in Baltimore City and Maryland State stocks and bonds, also country realty. His home in East Baltimore was one of the handsomest in the city.

THE AMERICAN BUILDING is one of Baltimore's most imposing skyscrapers. As the home of the oldest newspaper in America it contains one of the best equipped newspaper plants in the whole country, installed and constantly improved in a persistent endeavor to give The American's readers the very best service obtainable. The building stands a substantial proof of The American's faith in Baltimore. It was the first large structure erected after the fire, and the lofty building that rose upon the ashes of the smaller one was an inspiration to Baltimore. We Build is the motto of The American, and it has done full measure of service in promoting the interests of the city and state. The American building represents an investment of over a million dollars, aside from the equipment. It is 16 stories high, houses five sextuple presses with a capacity of 225,000 papers an hour, and 25 linotype machines, in addition to all the necessary machinery which goes to make up a first-class newspaper office. The exterior is imposing, the interior artistic in decoration, and the building and plant as a whole testimony to The American's firm faith in the future of the Greater Baltimore.

EW men have proved themselves more capable of real success in any branch of business activity than Jere Hungerford Wheelwright, president of the Consolidation Coal Company and other large commercial organizations. That he started in life as a lawyer, which profession he forsook for business, has no doubt been contributory to his present high standing as the head of numerous great corporations. The descendant of good pioneer American stock, Mr. Wheelwright was born at Exeter, Westmoreland County, Virginia, May 15, 1868, the son of Dr. Frederick Dodge Wheelwright, a noted army surgeon, and Eleanor Ann Hungerford. His early education was obtained at various private schools and George Washington University (then Columbian University) from which he was graduated in law, class of 1890. He started his legal practice in Seattle, Washington, but returned East in 1893 and associated himself in the coal business with the late Senator Johnson N. Camden of West Virginia.

In 1898 he organized the Highland Coal & Coke Company. In 1901, with Senator Watson, he formed the Fairmont Coal Company of West Virginia. In 1903, by various combinations the Consolidation Coal Company was organized, with Senator Watson, president, and Mr. Wheelwright, vice-president. In 1911, on the former's retirement, Mr. Wheelwright was elected president.

Other organizations of which he is the controlling officer are the Somerset Coal Company, Pittsburgh & Fairmont Fuel Company, Clarksburg Fuel Company, Cumberland & Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Sandy Valley & Elkhorn Railroad Company.

He is a director of numerous important corporations. Clubs: Maryland, Baltimore, Elkridge Hunt, Baltimore Yacht, Green Spring Valley Hunt, Merchants', Maryland Jockey, Woodmont Rod and Gun, Carroll Island Ducking and Bachelors' Cotillon, Maryland; Metropolitan, Whitehall and Sleepy Hollow Country Clubs of New York, and of the Sons of the American Revolution.

AMES SWAN FRICK, Baltimore, son of William Frederick and Anne Elizabeth (Swan) Frick, was born November 30, 1848, in Baltimore. He received his preliminary education in private schools of his native city, and graduated from the University of Virginia in 1869, after which he entered the Law School of the University of Maryland, and was admitted to practice at the Maryland bar in 1872. He entered upon the legal profession in association with his father, and devoted himself to it until the year 1890, when he withdrew from active practice.

A man of intelligence and culture, possessing artistic, musical and literary tastes, which his wealth and leisure have permitted him to indulge, Mr. Frick has identified himself with the best social and artistic life of his own and foreign countries. He is a member, and was at one time upon the executive committee of the Society of the Cincinnati, that noble organization founded by military heroes, the "officers of the American Army, who associated themselves into one society of friends to endure as long as they shall endure, or any of their eldest male posterity." Mr. Frick is a prominent clubman, an enthusiast of outdoor sports, to which he devotes much of his time, and a member of the following organizations: The Maryland Historical Society, the Municipal Art Society, the Maryland Club (of which he was governor 1890-1909), the Baltimore Club, the University Club, the Baltimore Athletic Club, the Baltimore Country Club, the Elkridge Fox Hunting Club, the Automobile Club of Maryland, as well as the Union and Manhattan Clubs of New York, the Automobile Club of America, and the Royal Automobile Club of London, England.

Mr. Frick's wife was Elise Winchester Dana, daughter of Samuel and Abbie E. (Rice) Dana, of Boston, Massachusetts. She was born July 5, 1864, in Augusta, Maine, and was married there June 22, 1886. Her father, Samuel Dana, was a colonel of artillery in the United States Army, who served throughout the Civil War, and was stationed in California at the time of his death, in the year 1870. He was a descendant of Richard H. Dana, progenitor of the family in America, who settled in Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1640, the long line of whose descendants, distinguished on the bench, at the bar, in science and in literature, is too well known to need recapitulation. Mrs. Samuel Dana was a daughter of Richard Drury Rice, judge of the Supreme Court of Maine and of an old Massachusetts family. Resides 126 West Franklin street.

MONG the multitudes who venerate the memory of the late Robert Lehr, for nearly half a century the Baltimore representative of the great banking house of Brothers Bonninger, there are, we venture to say, few even of those not personally known to him, who would not feel interested on recalling his life and character, with an emotion elicited, except among his intimates, by one as high in the financial and social world as was this great banker and distinguished citizen.

Robert Lehr was born March 14, 1819, in Coblenz on the Rhine, of a family distinguished for many generations in military life. His education was received in Germany, and he early showed a peculiar aptitude for affairs requiring executive and administrative ability. That his talents were accorded speedy recognition was proved in 1850, when, a young man not much past thirty, he was sent to Baltimore to take charge of the famous shipping, banking and general commission house of Brothers Banninger, which had connections in the principal cities of all quarters of the globe. When Mr. Lehr came to America to assume control of this business he brought with him letters to the most prominent people in Baltimore, and was accredited at the Legation at Washington.

Mr. Lehr was largely instrumental in extending the scope of the commerce of the United States in Europe, and for this not our city alone, but the country at large, is indebted to him, although the trade of Baltimore reaped as a matter of course, especial benefits in the extension of her reputation and the establishment of the credit of her merchants abroad. Mr. Lehr was a director in the Merchants' Bank, the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company, a trustee of the Baltimore Savings Bank and vice-president of the Baltimore Safe Deposit Company. He was extensively interested in the shipping of tobacco to Europe, and was a type of the Baltimore merchant of whom the city is justly proud, whose enterprise and integrity have not only developed widely the commerce of the metropolis, but have given her an enviable reputation for fair dealing and honorable methods.

He was one of the original subscribers and founders of the Maryland Club, which was opened on Fayette street with Jerome Bonaparte first president, and was one of the last of the life governors.

Mr. Lehr died March 10, 1887, at his Baltimore home, leaving the record of a life which was a happy illustration of the honors and rewards of business fidelity and industry combined with high principle and unswerving integrity.

JAMES POSEY, consulting engineer, with offices at 320 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland, is well known and is chiefly interested in special reports on the economy of power plants, refrigerator plants, motor installations, heating, lighting, etc. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ROSARIO DI GIORGIO, importer and exporter of tropical fruits, was born in Cefalu, Italy, September 2, 1876, son of Salvatore and Scalco (Cangatana) Di Giorgio. He was educated in the schools of Italy. Mr. Di Giorgio has been an importer and exporter of tropical fruits for the past thirteen years in America. While in Italy he was captor of artillery in Rome. His office is at 18 E. Pratt Street, Baltimore.

ATLANTIC TRANSPORT LINE, New York-London (Direct) "The Comfort Route." The steamers of the Atlantic Transport Line ply between New York and London direct, passengers disembarking at Tilbury Docks and going thence to St. Pancras Station by special train. A strictly first-class service is maintained, and the cabins and public rooms are located amidships on the upper decks—the most favorable position. The entire passenger accommodation (modern throughout) is situated in a deckhouse amidships on two decks only, the lower of which is thirty-five feet above the water line. Attention is invited to special arrangements for the handling of tourists' automobiles. The steamships "Minnewaska," "Minnetonka," "Minneapolis," and "Minnehaha" are fitted with MARCONI SYSTEM OF WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY, and SUBMARINE SIGNALING APPARATUS. Office: Chamber of Commerce Building, Baltimore, Md.

THE BALTIMORE LAW SCHOOL.

THE Baltimore Law School was incorporated by the Legislature of Maryland in the year 1900, and began its first session in the Fall of that year. During the thirteen years of its existence it has become a decided factor in the field of legal education in Maryland. Its founders realized that the young man of limited means—too limited to permit of his acquiring a college education, deserved the opportunity of obtaining a legal education, if he was possessed of good mental calibre and ambitious. For this reason, no entrance examination was required, but when once enrolled, the applicant was required to demonstrate his fitness for the study of the law by rigid examinations. The School has been prosperous, and its student body now numbers two hundred and seventy men. Hon. Alfred S. Niles, former member of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, is the Dean, and Edwin T. Dickerson is the Secretary and Treasurer. The Faculty is composed of judges and lawyers in active practice, most of whom are young men.

On February 1, 1911, this School and the Baltimore University School of Law were consolidated under the name of the Baltimore Law School. Plans have recently been perfected for a consolidation of this School with the Law School of the University of Maryland, by which the Baltimore Law School will become an integral part of the former School, and its students will become students of the University of Maryland. The motive for the consolidation is the betterment of legal education in Maryland, and it is confidently expected that the result will be a decided improvement in legal standards and better trained lawyers.

THE AMERICAN INDEMNITY COMPANY, the latest of Baltimore's casualty and surety companies, was organized in 1913.

Its purpose is to consolidate into one large company a number of smaller casualty and surety companies now doing business independently. By the purchase of the New Amsterdam Casualty Company, a small but very reputable casualty company which has been successfully conducted for 15 years, the American Indemnity Company will start on its way with at least $1,000,000 per annum premium income assured. The officers of the American Indemnity Company are all men of experience in the lines which they will undertake. Its president, J. Arthur Nelson, was for many years vice-president of the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, and A. M. Bowen, Jr., its vice-president, was connected with the same company as its treasurer. Sifford Pearre, the treasurer, was for many years connected with the Mercantile Trust & Deposit Company of Baltimore, where he had a splendid training in finance. Its directorate includes many of Baltimore's best-known business men and many well known in financial circles in New York, Boston and Washington.

BROMO-SELTZER TOWER. Total height of tower, 357 feet. The Bottle on top, a fac-simile of the regular ten-cent Bromo-Seltzer bottle, but about 10,000,000 times larger, is 51 feet high, 20 1/2 feet in diameter, weighs 17 tons, and revolves at the rate of 107 feet per minute. There are 506 electric lights in bottle and crown surmounting it, which can be seen at a distance of 20 miles. The Bromo-Seltzer clock is the largest four-dial gravity clock in the world. The dial is 24 feet in diameter. The minute hand is 12 feet 7 inches long, and weighs 175 pounds. The hour hand is 9 feet 8 inches long and weighs 145 pounds. The pendulum is 15 feet long and weighs 475 pounds. The clock is automatically wound by an electric motor every six hours.

Above is shown a picture of the BALTIMORE CATHEDRAL, one of the oldest and probably the most beautiful church edifice of its kind in the United States. Imposing and stately from an architectural standpoint as one gazes on this fine building, which is over a hundred years old, he cannot help but be impressed with its appearance. Thousands of visitors and tourists to the Monumental City view it every year, as it is known as one of the principal sights of Baltimore. The Cathedral has a sanctuary which is circular in dimensions, and cannot be compared with by any other sanctuary in this country, being 70 feet wide and 68 feet deep. Exclusive of the circular projection in the sanctuary, the main building measures 130 feet 6 inches. On two sides of the building are transepts, which project 20 feet beyond the main building, being 35 feet 9 inches wide, making the extreme width of the building 115 feet 10 inches. The seating capacity of the church is 1200. Many persons have tried to describe this beautiful old edifice, but as it is a combination of Roman and Russian architecture, it was found rather hard to give a very good description of it. You would in reality call the style of architecture Russo-Byzantine, as it has the bell-shaped towers of Moscow, which resemble very closely the ones on the Church of the Assumption at Moscow; Roman architecture in the building can be seen very clearly both on the exterior and interior of the church. The columns, entablature and cornice of the portico are of sandstone, which came from the quarries of Nova Scotia. The main walls of the Cathedral are faced with granite from quarries in the neighborhood of Ellicott City, Md., the same quarries from which the stone used in a recent addition to the Cathedral by Cardinal Gibbons was obtained. The Cardinal, who is the head of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, resides in a fine building in the rear of the church. It cannot be seen in the picture, as it faces the east, the Cathedral facing the west, at the northeast corner of Cathedral and Mulberry streets.

Good meals, rooms with bath, and all the comforts of home. W. H. Tayloe, Traffic Manager. E. J. Chism, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

JOHNS HOPKINS HOSPITAL, Baltimore, with its educational features, is unequaled by any similar organization. It is world famous.

THE RELAY SANITARIUM (formerly the Conrad), Relay, Md., estab. 1878; one of the most splendidly located and best equipped places of its kind in the South, its location making it admirably adapted for the treatment of Nervous and Mental Diseases requiring removal from the environments of home. Voluntary cases of Alcoholic and Drug addiction, and those convalescing from severe illnesses, and prostration from overwork and business cares, are received for treatment. The Sanitarium offers a place to those suffering from these various diseases where they can receive skillful treatment under most favorable surroundings. A new department is being completed; the institution is well equipped to accommodate at least fifty patients. The Sanitarium is located within five minutes' walk of the Relay Station, an important station on the Main Line of the B. & O. R. R., twelve minutes by train from Camden Station, Balto., and thirty-five from Washington, D. C. Dr. Lewis H. Gundry, Supt.; Balto. office, 114 W. Franklin St.; hours, 3 to 4 P. M.

THE RICHARD GUNDRY HOME, Harlem Lodge, Catonsville, Md.; a Private Sanitarium, established 1891, for treatment of nervous diseases, selected cases of alcoholic and opium habits, neurasthenia, psychasthenia and the various forms of mental disease requiring removal from environments of home; an ideal place for recuperation from effects of overwork; situated on one of the highest elevations in Balto. County, 500 feet above the sea level, sufficiently close to the Chesapeake Bay for vigorating breezes. In addition to voluntary patients, the Home is duly licensed, according to the laws of the State of Maryland, to receive patients legally intrusted to it.

THE SPRINGER SANITARIUM is one of a few institutions still in existence that years ago began rationally, scientifically and medically to treat the drink habit and the drug habits as diseases susceptible of cure; the results obtained have fully demonstrated the ability of the treatment to thoroughly accomplish the cures which it agrees to perform; special provision has been made for the treatment of women patients. Situation of the Springer Sanitarium is in one of the finest suburbs about Baltimore; only 30 minutes by electric car line from the heart of the city, located at Woodbourne Ave., Govans (Baltimore), Md.

THE NEAL INSTITUTE OF MD., S. J. Ramsey, Mgr.; at this Inst. the drink habit can be overcome without hypodermic injections in from three to five days by the Neal Method; no injury to health; patients at the Neal Inst. are afforded the comforts of a refined home with utmost privacy; our treatment for drug addiction is as complete and positive as our treatment for alcoholism; Inst. conducted along strictly ethical lines, and the work is largely done with and through the medical profession; the Australian Gov. has adopted the Neal Treatment, and it is being administered under the government's supervision; location, York Rd. and Oakland Ave.

FETTING, A. H., manufacturing jeweler, 213 N. Liberty St., Baltimore.

THE FREDERICK W. LIPPS COMPANY, Baltimore, manufacturers of high-grade chocolates and bonbons; introducers and only makers of the famous "Society Chocolates," registered U. S. Pat. Office, which are distributed the world over. The company is noted for making the finest chocolate confection on the market. The Frederick W. Lipps Company has one of the largest and finest factory buildings in Maryland, located at the corner of Calverton Avenue and Hollins Street.

FLEET-McGINLEY COMPANY, printers, northwest corner South and Water Sts., Baltimore. J. Edward McGinley, president; T. D. Roberts, vice-president, and J. H. Rosenau, secretary-treasurer. This company respectfully directs the attention of purchasers of books, catalogues, engravings, or any printed product, to the following important considerations:

1. Its extensive facilities and the most perfect modern equipment enable it to fill all orders promptly.
2. The office and factory organization of the Fleet-McGinley Co. is composed of thoroughly practical and experienced people, who are competent to relieve its patrons of much detail, and will gladly give them the advantage of their experience and suggestions.
3. Its large consumption of raw materials enables it to purchase at lowest prices from the best sources.

"THE BEST EQUIPPED PRINTING OFFICE IN BALTIMORE"

4. It continually adds the most modern appliances, machinery and equipment which have proved of practical value, and it employs in all departments skilled and competent artisans. The company is thereby enabled to secure and maintain the highest quality of excellence of its printed product.

5. The equipment of the Fleet-McGinley Co. is one of the most complete south of Philadelphia, and enables it to undertake and speedily complete large and intricate contracts, and to assume all responsibility, thereby saving the consumer or purchaser annoyance, risks, disappointments and extra expense.

6. The factory of the Fleet-McGinley Co. is centrally located, and was especially constructed for its needs. It is a six-story fireproof building, and contains fireproof vaults for the storage of electroplates, engravings and designs, which make the destruction by fire of such valuable property practically impossible.

7. The Fleet-McGinley Co. deals conscientiously and fairly with its patrons; it endeavors to do what is right under all circumstances and conditions, and places at your service its capacity, its excellent facilities and the excellence of its product.

It is prepared to make estimates, and manufacture at lowest prices, and prompt attention is assured.

SEVEN OAKS, home of George C. Jenkins, Green Spring Valley, Baltimore Co., Md.

HENRY ALBERT ORRICK, only son of Captain Johnson and Margaret A. (Cokes) Orrick, was born in Morgan county, W. Va., September 21, 1857. He is one of the most prominent bankers in Baltimore, and since 1903 has been president of the Baltimore Stock Exchange. He is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars of Maryland, and the Maryland, Merchants', Country, Elkridge Fox and Green Spring Valley Hunt Clubs. He is also a director in the Merchants' Trust and Deposit Company and the United Railways and Electric Company. He is public-spirited and an important factor in the progression and upbuilding of Baltimore. He married Martha Burroughs Levering. Children—Louisa Wright, Johnson, Henry Albert, Jr., and William De Courcy Wright.

The Orrick family in this country are descendants of the good old Scotch family of the county of Fife, Scotland. The name is said to have had its origin in the rock upon that part of the Fife coast upon which the estate lay. The original Orrick estate in Fife, which was erected into a barony in the seventeenth century, was eventually sold, and the lands in Aberdeenshire acquired, to which the name Orrick was given. These lands are still in the possession of the family. The Orricks who came to this country brought with them their Scottish traits of thrift and energy, became possessed of large estates in their new home and large number of slaves, and were counted among the wealthiest planters of the country. They intermarried with the Washingtons, Hammonds and other families of settlers, who were also large planters.

ARTHUR W. THOMPSON, third vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio-Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton System, was born May 8, 1875, at Erie, Pa. He was graduated from Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., in 1897, and entered railway service in 1898, as a rodman in the engineering department of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. He entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in 1899 as assistant engineer of surveys, and became assistant engineer at Pittsburgh in 1900. In 1901 he was promoted to division engineer at Cumberland, Md., returning in 1902 to Pittsburgh as division engineer. He was promoted to division superintendent at Cumberland in 1903, and was transferred to Wheeling in the same capacity in 1904. His next promotion was to the office of chief engineer of maintenance of way, and continued in such capacity until April, 1910, when he became chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. In December, 1910, Mr. Thompson was promoted to general manager, and was promoted to third vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio-Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton System on April 11, 1912, which office he has held to the present time.

THE magnificent courage, broad vision and sound judgment with which the public-spirited citizens of Baltimore undertook the construction of a railroad from the Patapsco to the Ohio River are reflected in the great Baltimore and Ohio System of railroad lines which now supports the City and Port of Baltimore that gave it birth.

With its 5500 miles of lines, 2500 modern powerful locomotives and 100,000 freight cars, there is indeed a contrast which the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company of today presents with the little railroad which in 1827 was begun to connect Baltimore with the territory west of the Allegheny Mountains.

GENERAL OFFICE BUILDING, BALTIMORE.

From the inception of this railroad, which at the end of the first year had been extended a distance of 13 miles to Ellicott's Mills, Maryland, has grown one of the leading trunk line systems of transportation in the world, reaching practically every industrial center in the Middle Atlantic States between the Atlantic Seaboard at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York and the Great Lakes and Mississippi River at Chicago and St. Louis, respectively.

The local railroad company also established the commercial supremacy of Baltimore as a trade center, with its vast facilities for handling home commerce as well as export and import trade. One of the most striking examples of this is the fact that last year Baltimore attained the distinction of being the second largest grain port of the nation, there having been 42,330,313 bushels of grain handled at the port of Baltimore during 1912.

A volume devoted to the development of the State of Maryland by its foremost citizens and leading business interests would be incomplete indeed unless reference were made to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. No other enterprise has had a more wholesome influence upon the promotion of Maryland's best interests and the advancement of its economic welfare than has the State's leading railroad and business corporation.

Spanning the epochs in the development of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company brings the present generation of Marylanders abreast with one of the country's foremost transportation systems. From a few hundred miles of tracks a generation ago, the company has grown until it is classed as one of the leading railroad corporations. The total earnings for the fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1913, amounted to $103,329,992, the largest in the history of the company. These enormous earnings are cleared largely through Baltimore banks.

In addition to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's 4434 miles of line, there has come recently under the same administration and control the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company, with 1015 miles of line. The Baltimore and Ohio Company's operations extend into twelve States and run directly from the Atlantic ports of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore to the great points of interchange with the West and Southwest at Chicago and St. Louis, the intervening main line and branches reaching directly practically all of the great commercial and industrial centers of the East and Central West.

Early realizing the hopes and expectations of the community by placing Baltimore in direct communication with the Ohio River, every extension of the Baltimore and Ohio System has brought into closer touch with Maryland and Baltimore these great industrial centers.

In addition to this general interchange of commerce, the operations of the Company have been most beneficial to the material welfare of the State of Maryland and the City of Baltimore. The Company has its administrative offices in Baltimore, where its policies are fashioned and the results of its operations cleared.

The expansion of the Baltimore and Ohio System has been most beneficial to the material welfare of the State of Maryland. The most extensive terminals of the Company are in Maryland, where millions of dollars are expended annually for materials and supplies of all kinds and in meeting the pay-rolls of employes. Of the 65,000 employes of the Company, about 20,000 are engaged in service in the State of Maryland. The pay-roll disbursements in Maryland approximate $1,000,000 monthly.

Ten thousand men are employed in Baltimore and the monthly pay-roll totals about $600,000.

Modern terminals are operated at Baltimore, Cumberland and Brunswick. The facilities in Baltimore include two commodious passenger stations—Camden and Mount Royal; export and import terminals at Locust Point and Curtis Bay; Mount Clare and Riverside shops, Camden warehouse and freight yards, fruit and produce terminal, etc.

The Locust Point terminals are the largest on the Atlantic Seaboard. At Locust Point millions of tons of freight are imported and exported annually. Thousands of immigrants seeking new homes in America land at Locust Point each year. Locust Point covers a mile of waterfront. The terminals are situated directly behind historic Fort McHenry, on the left side of the harbor entering the port of Baltimore. Locust Point is well appointed, having a system of spacious docks, large freight and coal piers and mammoth grain elevators. There are 11 piers in the terminals, 9 of these being open and 2 covered. Two grain elevators and two coal piers are embraced in the terminals. The floor space in the freight piers at Locust Point aggregates 738,700 square feet. Pier 8 is the largest in the terminals, being 1000 feet by 140 feet in dimensions, two stories high and with a floor area of 235,358 square feet. The pier is equipped with the Telpherage system for handling freight on the platforms, the system being a series of overhead tracks on which carriers handle freight about the pier. The system is operated by electricity. Twenty of these carriers are in use, 10 of them being of 4-ton capacity and 10 of 2-ton capacity.

Eight lines now make regular sailings from the Locust Point terminals, six to foreign ports and two plying along the coast. The foreign lines are the North German Lloyd to Bremen, Johnson Line to Liverpool, Donaldson Line to Glasgow, Red Star Line to Antwerp, Havre and London; Scandinavian Line to Scandinavian ports and the Holland-American Line to Rotterdam. Two American lines, the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company and the Baltimore-Texas Line, dock their vessels at Locust Point. Eighteen hundred workmen are employed at Locust Point.

COAL PIER, CURTIS BAY.

At Curtis Bay the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad operates its largest coal terminal. Export shipments through the port of Baltimore are loaded at Curtis Bay, which is the largest and one of the best equipped terminals on the Atlantic Coast. The world's record for loading a vessel with a cargo of coal is held by the Curtis Bay terminals. Several records were established at Curtis Bay within a year, and November 23, 1912, the collier Newton was loaded in 3 hours and 45 minutes.

The Mount Clare shops of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at Baltimore, are among the largest in the world. The rebuilding of locomotives and cars and the principal repair work of the railroad's equipment is done at Mount Clare, where 2500 skilled mechanics and other workmen are employed.

The Baltimore and Ohio System operates large terminals at Cumberland, in Western Maryland, and the activities of the railroad in that section of the State have been responsible in large measure for the general development that has been accomplished. Cumberland is the division headquarters of the Cumberland division, and is geographically the "throat" of the Baltimore and Ohio System. The "Queen City" is the point of divergence of the two main lines of the Baltimore and Ohio, one of which proceeds northward towards Pittsburgh and Chicago and the other takes a southwesterly direction towards Cincinnati.

and St. Louis. These lines pass through the soft coal region and the gas coal region of Southern Pennsylvania and West Virginia, respectively, and the vast tonnage from these regions as well as the traffic from manufacturing, industrial and agricultural sections beyond pass through Cumberland. Cumberland is also an interchange point for the Baltimore and Ohio with the Western Maryland and the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroads. Only recently the Baltimore and Ohio increased its facilities materially at Cumberland by enlarging its freight yards, shops and constructing a modern freight station.

The number of freight cars handled in and out of Cumberland averages 5000 a day. These cars require about 100 trains. In addition, some 40 passenger trains arrive at, and depart from, Cumberland each day.

At Brunswick the Baltimore and Ohio System operates its principal eastern terminal for the classification of carload shipments of freight. The yard at Brunswick is 5 miles long and has a capacity of 7302 cars.

The original line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to Wheeling was a single-track road and its construction through the mountainous country presented many engineering problems. The science of engineering was largely in the experimental stage in those early days, so in pushing the construction work across the mountains it became necessary to follow the course of least resistance. The single-track line when built was wholly adequate to handle the business, but the growth of commerce and industrial development of the country taxed the facilities beyond capacity. Betterments were made when finances would permit, tracks were added and larger terminals were provided, until a large percentage of the main line mileage within the State was double track.

Even these facilities became inadequate to handle the traffic and it was urgent that enlargement be made. On January 15, 1910, President Daniel Willard assumed charge of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and before two weeks had elapsed a committee of West Virginia citizens visited the chief executive of the railroad to urge that additional facilities be provided. Mr. Willard gave the shippers assurance that their request would be complied with. He outlined to them a program of improvements which would increase the hauling capacity of the railroad by 50 per cent., including the construction of a third track on the mountain slopes to prevent congestion and the purchase of new cars and locomotives. The promises of President Willard have been fulfilled and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is well equipped to handle with dispatch the traffic offered to its rails.

The transformation accomplished on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in so short a time has been marvelous and has attracted widespread attention of the shipping public and the railroad world. The construction of third and fourth tracks involved the relocation of line, reduction of grades, elimination of tunnels, construction of substantial bridges capable of handling the heaviest of trains, the purchase of locomotives of the most powerful type, freight cars of maximum capacity and modern passenger equipment.

Prompt attention—personal supervision—are both parts of Arrow Beer service.

A Pure Beer of Quality Arrow Beer

Arrow Beer is brewed in Baltimore by Baltimoreans. It is made particularly fine for particularly fine people.

It is a proved food in liquid form, and as such is recommended by physicians of the highest standing.

Arrow Beer is brewed from first-grade German imported hops (imported direct), select Western Barley Malt and the finest Flaked Corn.

It is bottled direct from Government-inspected, glass-lined, steel, sanitary tanks in a clean, modern, up-to-the-minute brewery.

Its principal ingredients are Nature's own agents for building firmly in men and women the steadiness and go-to-it-ive-ness that play such a vital part in "Good Health"—and Success.

Arrow Beer is an "essential." In thousands of homes it is considered as necessary in the refrigerator as bread in the bread box.

Where Quality counts—it's the beer that's always chosen.
